Clinical AD/CN | raw accuracy by epoch

Training uses augmented slices and validation averages nine slices per subject; these are different units. Dashed line is the frozen stage-validation-selected checkpoint. Curves do not establish patient-independent clinical generalization.